Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On March 2, 2009, VeriSign, Inc. (the “Company”) entered into an asset purchase agreement (the “Agreement”) with Transaction Network Services, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the “Purchaser”) for the sale of its Communications Services business for a purchase price of $230.0 million, subject to certain adjustments to reflect normal fluctuations in working capital. The Communications Services business provides managed solutions to fixed line, broadband, mobile operators and enterprise customers through integrated communications and commerce platforms. Closing of the transaction is expected to take place on or before April 30, 2009, and is subject to the Purchaser’s obtaining of financing and customary closing conditions, including Hart-Scott-Rodino antitrust review.

Pursuant to the Agreement, the Purchaser will acquire various assets associated with the Communications Services business, including (i) customer and vendor contracts, (ii) ownership of or the right to use intellectual property required for the conduct of the business, (iii) various trademark registrations and patents, (iv) office furniture, computers, servers and other equipment, (v) real property located in Lacey, Washington, (vi) the right to leases in locations throughout the United States, and (vii) certain current assets. The Purchaser will not acquire the right to use “VeriSign” or any other trademarks, trade names, logos or other service marks of VeriSign, Inc. or its retained subsidiaries. Agreements for the transfer of foreign assets of the Communications Services business may be entered into where advisable or required under the law of foreign jurisdictions. Retained employees of the Communications Services business will become employees of the Purchaser, and the Purchaser will assume certain accrued obligations with respect to transferred employees. Payments to Communications Services business employees covered by change-in-control agreements will be paid by the Purchaser, and reimbursed by the Company.

Both the Company and the Purchaser have agreed to indemnify the other party against certain losses; indemnification by the Company of the Purchaser for losses stemming from breaches of its representations, warranties, and pre-closing covenants in the Agreement is capped at $23.0 million, and is subject to a minimum deductible. The Company has agreed not to compete with the Purchaser in the Communications Services business for a period of 24 months from closing, and has agreed not to solicit former employees of the divested business (with certain limited exceptions) for a period of one year from closing. Simultaneously with closing of the sale, the Company expects to enter into a Transition Services Agreement with the Purchaser; the Company does not consider the Transition Services Agreement to be independently material.

The Agreement contains customary termination rights. These include, subject to certain conditions, termination by (i) mutual consent of the Company and the Purchaser; (ii) either the Company or the Purchaser if the transaction has not closed by April 30, 2009, subject to extension for antitrust approvals; (iii) the Company (a) if lack of governmental approval, statute or an injunction prevents the transaction from closing, (b) if the Purchaser fails to fulfill its obligations under the Agreement, or (c) at the Company’s option, in order to enter into a superior alternative transaction with a third party; or (iv) by the Purchaser (a) if lack of governmental approval, statute or an injunction prevents the transaction from closing, (b) if the Company fails to fulfill its obligations under the Agreement, or (c) if the Purchaser receives notice that the Company intends to enter into a superior alternative transaction.

If the transaction is terminated by either party under clause (ii) above, and at such time all conditions to closing have been satisfied except for the Purchaser’s obligation to obtain financing for the transaction, the Company may require the Purchaser to pay a termination fee of $2.3 million (such payment being the Company’s sole remedy for termination), or the Company may waive its right to the termination fee to pursue monetary damages for losses incurred as a result of any fraud or material breach of the Purchaser’s representations, warranties and covenants under the Agreement. If either the Company or the Purchaser terminates the transaction in response to the Company’s decision to accept a superior alternative transaction proposal from a third party, the Company will pay the Purchaser a termination fee of $2.3 million (such payment being the Purchaser’s sole remedy for termination).

A copy of the press release announcing the sale of the Company's Communications Services business to the Purchaser is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1.

Statements in this announcement other than historical data and information constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause VeriSign’s actual results to differ materially from those stated or implied by such forward-looking statements. The potential risks and uncertainties include, among others, the uncertainty of future revenue and profitability and potential fluctuations in quarterly operating results due to such factors as increasing competition and pricing pressure from competing services offered at prices below our prices and market acceptance of our existing services, the inability of VeriSign to successfully develop and market new services, and the uncertainty of whether new services as provided by VeriSign will achieve market acceptance or result in any revenues and the risk that the sale of the VeriSign Communications Services business may not be consummated or may be delayed as a result of the inability of TNS to obtain necessary financing or of the parties to obtain required regulatory approvals or other reasons. More information about potential factors that could affect the company’s business and financial results is included in VeriSign’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including in the Company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2008. Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and Current Reports on Form 8-K. VeriSign undertakes no obligation to update any of the forward-looking statements after the date of this press release.
